

As soon as the COVID-19 crisis hit, Support Connection, that offers free breast and ovarian cancer support services, immediately adjusted their service delivery to insure they are still there for people coping with breast and ovarian cancer. Working remotely, their Peer Counselors have been fielding large numbers of calls and emails every day from cancer patients and survivors who are overwhelmed by trying to manage their unique health needs while our health care system is severely overtaxed.

For more information about our services and programs, visit www.supportconnection.org

Support Connection needs and appreciates your help to be there for the people who need them! Without being able to hold fundraising events, they're relying on donations to close the gap.